Violence Against Foreigners a Self-Defeating Policy

Americans have lies embracing many lands, but the first principle of Americanism is that we must abandon all other loyalties and put our own country first.

Currently the Arabs resent the efforts of well-meaning American Jews to assist their brothers in defense of the beleaguered state of Israel. Most Americans sympathize with the Jews both here and in Israel—but we proceed cautiously, recognizing that there is a limit beyond which we must not pass in honoring personal loyalties overseas, without risking setting up enemy nations at every turn.

The very latest of ominous developments are public demonstrations by American Jews against the Russian consulates in our country in retaliation for harsh Russian action against Jewish suspects in the attempted hijacking of a Soviet airliner.

Russia has indicated counter measures may be taken against Americans now residing under the Red Star—an intolerable position for both the Soviet and the U.S.A.

While we feel for the Jews on the Arab question the American reaction to Jewish attacks on the Russians is to repudiate those who would put a personal quarrel ahead of loyalty to our own land.

In the last analysis, no one group of people can compromise our country with alien world power and not risk alienating their fellow Americans.

Light Rain Expected in Arkansas

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Light rain and drizzle are expected in Arkansas tonight and Wednesday, particularly in the east portions of the state.

Considerable cloudiness is also forecast in the state through Wednesday.

Fog was reported over much of the state this morning and hazardous driving warnings were issued.

Temperatures climbed into the 50s, 60s and 70s Monday as the fog and clouds lifted across the state. Highs ranged from 51 at Jonesboro to 75 at Texarkana.

Highs today were forecast in the 30s northwest to low 70s southeast. Highs Wednesday should be in the 30s to mid 40s.

Lows tonight are forecast around 20 in the northwest to near 40 southeast.

Overnight lows include 28 at Fayetteville, 39 at Harrison, 38 at Jonesboro, 45 at Pine Bluff, 48 at Texarkana, 50 at El Dorado, 42 at Memphis, 42 at Little Rock and 32 at Fort Smith.

Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. include a trace at Little Rock, El Dorado, Harrison and Jonesboro and .01 at Memphis.

12 Missing in Chanel Collision

FOLKESTONE, England (AP) — Six bodies were recovered and 12 persons were missing today after a 2,700-ton West German motorship sank in the foggy Strait of Dover.

Channel pilots believed the Brandenburg tore open its bottom on the hulk of a Panamanian oil tanker that sank off Folkestone the day before.

Escapoo Is Recaptured

HARRISBURG, Ark. (AP) — Billy Harrison, 30, of Trumann was being held in the Poinsett County jail Monday night after being arrested in a Trumann tavern Saturday.

Harrison saw his way out of the Trumann city jail last September where he was being held on charges of burglary and grand larceny.

Court Upholds N.Y. Welfare Policy

By BARRY SCHWEID
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Supreme Court ruled 6-3 today that New York State may cut off welfare payments to mothers who refuse to allow case-workers into their homes.

The decision, given by Justice Harry A. Blackmun, reverses a federal court in New York City and upholds the state against claims by welfare recipients that they were the targets of unconstitutional searches.

In fact, said Blackmun in his first majority opinion for the high court, such visits are not really searches but a reasonable administrative tool in administering the Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC) program. He said they violate no right guaranteed by the U.S. Constitution.

Justices William O. Douglas, William J. Brennan Jr., and Thurgood Marshall dissented. Douglas said there doubtlessly are frauds in every sector of public welfare but poor people as well as the rich are entitled to the protection of the privacy of their homes.

The case involved Mrs. Barbara James and her three-year-old son. She refused to allow a caseworker to visit her home, although she said she was willing to meet with the worker elsewhere. Aid to her child was suspended as a result.

A three-judge federal court in New York City ruled Mrs. James' rights had been violated and enjoined welfare officials from making aid depend on home visits. This decision is now reversed.

Sen. Russell Has Setback

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Richard B. Russell, who entered Walter Reed Army Medical Center Dec. 8 for treatment of a respiratory ailment, has suffered a setback, an aide says.

The aide said Monday an examination of the Georgia Democrat Sunday showed infection had returned to parts of the lower respiratory system. Doctors had thought antibiotics had cleared up the infection.

Russell, the 73-year-old dean and president pro tempore of the Senate, has suffered from emphysema for years.

Hypochondriacs Dislike Winter Months Because Diseases Are So Few

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Do you dislike the winter months because they produce so few interesting diseases?

Many hypochondriacs do. They feel limited by having nothing to complain about except the sniffles, the common head cold, virus X, the 24-hour virus, the flu, and walking pneumonia. There is a sameness about their symptoms that makes them dull and commonplace.

Actually, however, the hypochondriacs are wrong. If they would lift their vision, they would find winter filled with a host of interesting maladies one can catch and brag about to his neighbors. Probably you have some and don't even know it.

For example: To begin with, do you feel overwhelmed by snow? Well there, already you're a victim of a fine old ailment. Your psychiatrist—if he has been to his medical dictionary lately—would call it chionophobia, or fear of snow.

Maybe it's not the snow that bothers you so much as does the chilly weather that goes with it. Wrap yourself in a woolen blanket, honey. You know what you've come down with? Undoubtedly, you've got either cheimaphobia or psychrophobia, both of which mean you dread being cold. And if you hesitate to drink a hot toddy, you may also have dipsophobia, the fear

Says Calley Only Doing His Duty

By HARRY F. ROSENTHAL

FT. BENNING, Ga. (AP) — Lt. William L. Calley Jr. "was a man doing his duty and doing his job," says a former soldier who testified he stood with Calley at My Lai spraying bullets into batches of Vietnamese civilians.

"I got emotionally upset," Paul David Meadlo said of that day, "but I still believe I was carrying out an order."

Meadlo was the first witness in Calley's murder trial to admit he followed without question an order from the platoon leader to kill the unresisting villagers during a sweep through the Vietnamese hamlet March 16, 1968.

Bills Introduced to Bar Paroles in Death Penalty Commutations

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Identical bills were introduced in the Arkansas House and Senate Monday to make parole impossible for convicts whose death sentences had been commuted by the governor.

The measures were introduced by Rep. Jimmie Don McKissack of Star City and Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott because of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller's commutation of the death sentences of 15 Arkansas inmates two weeks ago.

A further reduction in the sentences to a term of years would make the inmates eventually eligible for parole and Rockefeller announced Monday that he was commuting to 48 years the sentences of two of the 15. The two could become eligible for parole as early as 1976.

Bills were introduced in both the Senate and House that would authorize the merger of the University of Arkansas and Arkansas A&M College at Monticello. The boards of trustees of both schools are working out details for a merger.

Rep. Leon Holsted of North Little Rock introduced a bill to create a university system in which all eight state-supported colleges and universities would be a part. They would be designated the University of Arkansas at whatever city they are located.

Rep. A. J. Troxell of Greenbrier introduced a bill to prohibit the sale of beverages in nonreturnable containers. Troxell's bill said the nonreturnable containers contributed to solid waste pollution.

The legislation would prohibit the sale of beverages such as liquor, beer and soft drinks in nonreturnable containers, but the bill would not apply to the selling of beverages for on-premises consumption or of beverages in containers which are made of paper products.

To be submitted later is a bill by incoming Gov. Dale Bumpers to give broader powers to the state Turnpike Authority to finance the construction of toll roads along the more feasible routes.

The authority was created in 1967, but studies showed no toll road corridors in the state that were feasible enough to support financing under the 1967 legislation.

Bumpers also plans to submit a bill to amend the state election code to require at least one candidate of a political party to have received 15 per cent of the vote in the preceding general election in order to qualify the party for ballot positions in a succeeding election.

Two Wrecks, Four Drivers Are Charged

Two wrecks were investigated by Hope City Police yesterday and charges were filed against all four drivers involved.

At Walnut and Ave. B cars driven by Willie Wolfe of Dierks and V. M. McKee of Hope collided with minor damage resulting. Officers Haltom and Purtle charged Wolfe with failure to transfer a license and charged McKee with failure to yield the right-of-way.

On Highway 67 east near Meyers Bakery vehicles driven by Halbert S. Cox and Lonnie R. Brown, both of Hope, collided with considerable damage resulting. Cox was charged with having no driver's license and failure to yield the right-of-way and Brown was charged with driving a vehicle with an expired license.

Guerrillas Join Mid-east Ceasefire

AMMAN, Jordan (AP) — The Jordanian government and the Palestine guerrilla command joined in a new cease-fire order today after five days of fighting between King Hussein's army and the guerrillas.

A joint statement said anyone disobeying the order would be tried as a traitor. The statement was signed by Premier Wasfi Tell and Ibrahim Bakr of the Palestine Liberation Organization.

They appealed to Jordanians and Palestinians to go back to work and resume their normal activities.

The cease-fire was announced in the Jordanian capital a few hours after a guerrilla communique issued in Damascus charged that Jordanian troops in tanks and helicopters were attacking guerrilla bases in northern Jordan under cover of artillery barrages.

The communique, broadcast over Radio Damascus, said the guerrillas were holding fast but King Hussein's army was keeping up its attack.

Fighting between Jordanian troops and the guerrillas has been reported every day since Friday. Guerrilla announcements depict the worst outbreak of inter-Arab hostilities since the 11-day civil war in Jordan, but the Jordanian government claims the guerrilla reports are greatly overdrawn.

Reorganization Plan by Bumpers Gets a Guarded Reception

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Bumpers administration's proposal for extensive reorganization of state government received a favorable but guarded reception from members of the Arkansas legislature Monday.

Several said they liked the idea of reorganization, but they declined to commit themselves to the legislation yet. Most who were asked about the proposed reorganization said they had not yet had a chance to fully study incoming Gov. Dale Bumpers' bill.

Sen. Olen Hendrix of Prescott said, however, he thought it would pass, although perhaps not in its original form.

"Some compromises may have to be worked out, but I think it has a good chance," Hendrix said.

WR Sees Era of Excellence in Arkansas

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller bade farewell to the Arkansas Legislature today and said he believed "the cornerstone for an Era of Excellence has been laid in Arkansas."

In remarks prepared for his farewell address before a joint session of the legislature, Rockefeller said the state is now "constructively a different Arkansas" than when he moved here almost two decades ago.

"In many ways, we were like a beautiful antebellum home — the doors and windows bolted as though to deny the coming of change; the curtains drawn in fear, somehow, of discovering what change might bring with it," the outgoing governor said.

"... Since then a generation has passed and we are constructively a different Arkansas," he said. "There is much to do, but now the fresh winds of new and exciting change are blowing across our beautiful state. I am proud and happy to have been a part in helping to open the doors and windows, bolted too long to allow these fresh winds to penetrate our homes and yes, even our minds."

Rockefeller, who served two terms as the state's first Republican governor since Reconstruction, relinquished office today to Democrat Dale Bumpers, who defeated Rockefeller in the general election.

The increases marked the end of a year-old policy Bethlehem instituted and the rest of the industry quickly matched under which steel purchasers were given a 12-month, no-price-change guarantee.

Other major steel producers would not comment on Bethlehem's action other than to say the increases were under study. A spokesman for President Nixon's Council of Economic Advisors said in Washington it "had See BETHLEHEM

Bethlehem Ups Price of Steel

BETHLEHEM, Pa. (AP) — Bethlehem Steel Co., America's No. 2 producer, has announced higher prices for steel used in construction and shipbuilding—increases that may eventually be reflected in higher costs for consumer goods.

Bethlehem said Monday prices would go up by 80 to 85 cents a hundredweight on piling, structural shapes and carbon plates used in the construction of ships. The boosts of 11 to 13 per cent will take effect Feb. 16 and March 1.

Second Air Attack on N. Vietnam

SAIGON (AP) — The U.S. command announced today that a second U.S. plane made a "protective reaction" air attack inside North Vietnam last Friday. A spokesman said the Shrike missile fired by the American fighter-bomber missed the enemy antiaircraft missile site on the coast and landed in the sea.

The air strike 110 miles north of the demilitarized zone was made after the missile launcher's radar began tracking an unarmed Navy reconnaissance jet and the A4 fighter-bomber escorting it, the spokesman said.

The U.S. Command considers this a hostile action, the spokesman explained, since once the radar locks onto an aircraft it is in position to fire and thus poses a threat. The spokesman said the North Vietnamese did not fire, but the attack by the American fighter-bomber was the exercise of the "inherent right of self-defense."

The U.S. Command on Saturday announced another "protective reaction" strike last Friday, by an Air Force F105 fighter-bomber escorting B52 bombers on a mission along the North Vietnamese-Lao border. The command said the F105 fired two Shrike missiles at a SAM site in the Mu Gia pass region after the enemy's radar began tracking the U.S. planes. There has been no report that those Shrikes hit the target either.

In ground combat, South Vietnamese headquarters claimed its forces killed 78 North Vietnamese in sharp fighting on both sides of the Cambodian border. Field reports said seven South Vietnamese were killed and 18 wounded.

A small U.S. Marine patrol of less than 10 men beat back an attack by 50 Viet Cong 20 miles south of Da Nang, killing 15 with the help of air strikes, a spokesman said. One Marine was wounded.

But three Americans were reported killed and eight wounded in several booby trap incidents elsewhere.

In Cambodia, a large force of South Vietnamese marines was reported at a crossroads close to one of the key enemy positions blocking Highway 4, the road between Phnom Penh and the sea.

Newsman who visited the area said the marines, part of a joint Vietnamese-Cambodian force trying to reopen the highway, had reached a Cambodian camp 55 miles southwest of Phnom Penh and five miles northeast of Pick Nil, an elevated position overlooking the highway where the North Vietnamese and Viet Cong have been digging in since November.

DONALD MUSHTARE

Donald Mushtare, director of development and technical service at Tolber Corporation, brought the Hope Lions Club an informative talk on the plastics industry and in particular the type of work being pursued at the local plant.

Following the luncheon period Monday, Mr. Mushtare brought out a box full of items that are being manufactured and others that are being researched and are still in the experimental and testing stages.

The mainstay of the company is protective coatings which can be applied to almost anything as long as heat is used to cure the plastic. Some other manufactured items are molded stress, fittings for water skis, shoe soles for cloth and casual shoes, shoe feet for infants sleepwear, slipper socks and many other items. The molded items are made in automatic machines manufactured by a subsidiary of the Tolber Corporation located in Texas. Don Freel arranged the program. New members inducted into the club were Warren Plyler, agent for Farm Bureau Insurance and Bobby Webb of the Nashville Production Credit Association branch office in Hope. Both new members were sponsored by Dub Flowers.

The Rev. Gordon Renshaw spoke briefly to the group on Operation Drug Alert which held a series of meetings a few weeks ago. In continuing the work it was explained that up to date books, tapes and movies are needed and Mr. Renshaw appealed to groups and individuals to contribute to this worthy work.

was weeping as his rifle fire cut down men, women and children. But his recitation Monday, nearly three years later, was calm, almost matter-of-fact and unruffled.

In an interview Calley had described Meadlo as "a tremendous soldier ... one of the best I had." On the witness stand, Meadlo seemed to feel the same about his platoon leader.

"I thought the man was doing his duty and doing his job," he said of Calley. The answer was stricken on objection by the prosecution.

"Did you form any impression that Lt. Calley was violent or mad in the sense of raving around?" asked defense counsel George Latimer.

"No," Meadlo said. The pale witness from Terre Haute, Ind., lost his right foot when he stepped on a mine the following day. He said later it was God's punishment for what he had done at My Lai.

Like previous witnesses, Meadlo testified the troops were told in a preassault briefing that "there was a Viet Cong organization in the village and that everybody was a VC or VC sympathizer. We were supposed to search and destroy it—and that included women, children, animals and livestock."

At another point, Meadlo said he obeyed Calley's orders to shoot because "all the people from the village were supposed to be Viet Cong or Viet Cong sympathizers and I still believe they were VC."

Meadlo, now a plastics factory employee, said Capt. Ernest Medina, the commander of Charlie Company, was in the village during the sweep.

"He did not try to put a stop to this whatsoever," Meadlo said, "so I took it ... that we were doing the right thing ..."

Medina has been charged with over-all responsibility for the deaths at My Lai. His case is under investigation to determine if he will be tried.

Educational Fund Misuse Is Charged

By AUSTIN SCOTT
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — State and local school officials have misused millions of federal dollars earmarked for the education of impoverished Indian children, two prominent legal groups charged today.

In a study covering 60 school districts in eight states, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund and the Harvard Center for Law and Education said the money was used "for every conceivable school system need except the need that Congress had in mind."

The study said money intended for Indians was used to buy "fancy equipment" for white students and for general operating expenses "to reduce taxes for non-Indian property owners."

The U.S. Bureau of Indian Affairs encouraged such practices the study said, by looking the other way when districts misused funds, and then granting them extra Indian student money to replace what they'd misused.

The 162-page report, compiled by a 32-member task force, 27 of whom were Indians, cited no figures on misused funds. But Phyllis McClure, Washington representative of the Legal Defense Fund, said the funds misused added up to "more than 50 per cent" of the approximately $66 million in special federal funds for the 1969-70 school year.

The report focused on districts in Arizona, New Mexico, North and South Dakota, and also touched on New York, Oregon, Oklahoma and Montana.

"By every standard, Indians receive the worst education of any children in the country," the report said. "They attend shabby, overcrowded public schools which lack even basic resources" it added, with many teachers openly disrespectful of Indian heritage and culture.

and Bumpers' consumer protection legislation were introduced in the House Monday as the 68th General Assembly started its 60-day session.

Also introduced was Bumpers' proposed constitutional amendment to lower the voting age from 21 to 18 in all elections in the state, but the rest of the 25 administration bills made public Monday did not hit the legislative hopper on the first day.

Both the House and the Senate met for little more than an hour each Monday before adjourning to await today's swearing in of Bumpers and other constitutional officers and the farewell address of Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller. Most of Monday's session was filled with formality and the election of officers.

Hendrix was formally named president pro tempore of the Senate and Rep. Ray S. Smith Jr. of Hot Springs was named speaker of the House.

Hendrix said he looked for a constructive, basically uncontroversial session.

"There will be some controversy, of course," he said. "But I think compromises can be worked out, agreements reached."

Sen. Jim Caldwell of Rogers, the only Republican senator, said, however, that "all hell is going to break loose."

"They'll give him (Bumpers) a honeymoon of about two weeks, and then the trouble will begin," Caldwell said.

Smith told the House that the legislators were in an "enviable and unique" position — "We start with no friction and no factions," he said.

The reorganization bill is expected to become one of the most controversial of the session. State agencies that would be affected by it already are making their opposition known.

The measure would reduce to 13 the number of major state departments by consolidating more than 60 state agencies, boards and commissions. The director of each of the departments, except the Department of Correction, would serve at the pleasure of the governor.

Rep. G. W. "Buddy" Turner Jr. of Pine Bluff called the proposal of "immense importance." He said the bill would vest "a lot of power" in the governor's hands.

not changed its policy, which is to refrain from comment on individual price actions.

The heavy construction and shipbuilding products affected by Bethlehem's price increases account for about 15 per cent of the steel industry's output. Bethlehem declined to say how much it produces.

The last price increase for the products covered in Monday's announcement came last March 1 and were covered by the one-year no-change guarantee.

The end of this policy was not explained by Bethlehem, but steel sources noted that the current contract with the Steelworkers union expires July 31. They said Bethlehem might not want to be wedded to prices that might be too low to cover a wage settlement.

The United Auto Workers, after a General Motors strike that lasted 10 weeks, recently settled for a pay boost averaging about 35 per cent during a three-year contract. The steelworkers are expected to demand at least that much.

Farmers Feel Cut in Cotton Subsidy

FRESNO, Calif. (AP) — Some of the giant corporate farms, stung by a new ceiling on federal price support payments, may rent their cotton crop acreage allotments to smaller growers this year as a way of trimming losses of anticipated income.

Several major growers say they will plant enough cotton to get the top $55,000 subsidy and rent the balance of their allotments to smaller growers for six to seven cents a pound.

Under the allotment system, instituted after cotton production exceeded market demands, the government limits the acreage a producer can plant to cotton in return for price support payments.

In past years, there was no limit on the amount of federal price support money an individual grower could receive for cotton grown on allotted acreage.

Under the new ceiling, an individual producer can receive no more than $55,000, regardless of the amount of allotted acreage of cotton he has under cultivation.

The small grower renting an allotment will have to grow the cotton on his own land or lease land to grow it on.

Frank C. Zabaldano, manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service office in Fresno, in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley—where cotton is a $160 million annual crop—said Monday he believes a number of large growers will rent their allotments.

Under the old price support program, farmers were paid 16 cents a pound of cotton on 65 per cent of their allotted acreage. There was no ceiling.

This year the subsidy is 15 cents a pound on 67.5 per cent of allotted acreage. The Department of Agriculture is authorized to set the acreage allotments and price per pound annually at what it determines is needed to assure domestic producers a margin of profit for their crop on the world market.

Tuesday, January 12, 1971

Congress enacted the $55,000 lid on payments to any one producer after complaints that unlimited payments benefitted the rich farmer at the expense of the poor or marginal operator. There were predictions the ceiling would mean a drastic drop in the San Joaquin valley's cotton crop this year.

But Dick Markarian, chairman of the Fresno County Farm Bureau's cotton department, and others now believe 1971 plantings will be higher than before.

The over-all effect of the allotment rentals would be to increase the amount of subsidies paid farmers who were well below the $55,000 figure last year. Initially it was estimated the ceiling would save $58 million to $171 million nationally in federal subsidy payments.

Projected savings definitely will be less than anticipated, said Lee Sidell, state executive director of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, "but we don't know by how much."

OEO Grant of $278,866

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., said Monday the Office of Economic Opportunity has approved a $278,866 grant to the Arkansas Mid-Delta OEO office located at Helena, Ark.

The funds are for program administration, neighborhood service systems, emergency food and medical services and economic development. The office serves Phillips and Monroe counties.

The 92nd Congress is sitting, but there are some signs it may up and get moving one of these months.

Calendar of Events

Wednesday, January 13

The Hope Lilac Garden Club will meet Wednesday, January 13 at 2 p.m. in the home of Mrs. W.R. Burks. Mrs. Curtis Urry will be the leader, and a special guest, Mrs. Herbert Dodson, will present the program, "Dried Arrangements."

Lonnie Crow presented a bird feeder "candle" to each of the 15 members present.

The club president, Mrs. David Waddle, had charge of a routine business meeting. At that time Mrs. Charles Carey made a report on Yard of the Month selections.

The hostesses served a salad plate with coffee or cold drinks.

Friday Bridge Club Play

Mrs. R. E. Jackson entertained a local Friday Bridge Club on January 8, and the members enjoyed a pleasant afternoon of bridge at two tables.

High scorers were Mrs. Tom Kinser and Mrs. H. C. Whitworth.

The hostess served a salad plate and coffee for refreshments.

Coming, Going

Mr. and Mrs. Jack King, Jr. and adopted baby, 1½ year old David, from Kodiak, Alaska, came home for the Christmas holidays. They were met at the Little Rock airport by family and friends and were accompanied to Hope by members of the Eddy and Truett King families, all of Little Rock, for the holidays with Mr. and Mrs. Jack King, Sr. (The Alaskan Kings now live on Kodiak Island, where he is a physical education instructor in the schools; he owns a smaller island where he is successful as a salmon fisherman in the summer.) The 18 out-of-town guests in the local King home include Dr. and Mrs. James Chambers, who are Baptist missionaries, Mrs. E. C. Bowerman of El Dorado, Mrs. King's sister, and Mr. and Mrs. "Bunky" Bowerman and Debbie Rose of Fayetteville.

Gardenia Club Meets

"Birds" was the theme of the Gardenia Club meeting on Thursday, January 7, in the home of Mrs. Charles Kammerdiener with Mrs. Hillman Koen, co-hostess. Mrs. Manuel Hamm, a special guest, brought a most interesting program, "Identifying and Feeding Birds."

Mrs. Earl Whitaker exhibited a bird house arrangement of berries and foliage, and Mrs.

Mrs. J. S. Gibson, Jr. came home last week from Denver, Colo., where she had a two-week visit with Mr. and Mrs. John Gibson and family.

Mrs. Lex Helms, Sr. spent two weeks in Pine Bluff with her sister, Mrs. A. M. Hart during the holidays.

Births

Mr. and Mrs. Ronnie Kidd announce the birth of their first child, a boy, on December 26, at Memorial Hospital. He weighed 5 pounds, 8 ounces and has been named Matthew Ronald. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Hubert R. Kidd of Spring Hill and Mr. and Mrs. Minor Polk of Hope.

Wedding Vows Are Repeated

MR. AND MRS. JAMES E. WALTERS

The First Baptist Church in Harrison was the setting Sunday afternoon, December 27 for the ceremony which united Miss Patricia Logan and James E. Walters in holy matrimony. The bride is the daughter of Mrs. Mildred Logan of Harrison and the late Rev. Truman Logan, and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. James E. Walters of Hope.

Col. T.N. Shaddox of North Little Rock, retired U.S. Air Force Chaplain, officiated in a setting of green and gold that had a Christmas holiday motif highlighted with spiral candelabra holding 45 burning pink tapers. In addition, seven-branched candelabra held candles that were lighted by Miss Sheri Lafferty and David Lafferty, niece and nephew of the bride.

Mrs. A. C. Tatum, organist, played music appropriate for the occasion and accompanied Miss Sheila Long of McCrory, soloist, when she sang "The Wedding Prayer" as the couple knelt on a prie-dieu at the conclusion of the ceremony. White gladiolus and pine garlands provided the background for the exchange of marriage vows.

Given in marriage by her uncle, Joe Wood of Los Angeles, Calif., the bride wore a gown of imported French-cut white velvet in swirl design, styled with mandarin neckline, long calla-point sleeves, Empire bodice and flared, A-line skirt.

Religious Service for Senior Club

The Ministerial Alliance met and voted to accept an invitation from the Senior Citizens Club to have a religious service for them at the Douglas Building once a month, beginning this month.

Each meeting will be at 8:30 a.m., until 10:00 a.m. on the third Tuesday of each month. The schedule is as follows:

TIMELY QUOTES

The situation is desperate. It is the worst situation since I've been in Congress. Not only is the public losing confidence but we as senators are beginning to despair at our ability to function.

custom-made by her mother. Her elbow-length veil of illusion was attached to a white milk pillbox, and she carried a nosegay of creamy white roses, accented with gold metal lace with gold and white shower. Her "something old" was a bracelet from her maternal grandmother.

Mrs. Dolores Lafferty served her sister as matron of honor. Miss Beverly Walters of Forrest City, sister of the groom, and Miss Jan Laney of Oak Ridge, Tenn., were the bridesmaids. Mrs. Lafferty wore blush pink velvet and the bridesmaids cranberry velvet, styled with mandarin collars, Empire bodices, long sleeves, and A-line, flared skirts. Their hats were pillbox style of matching velvet with tulle veils, and they carried shirred velvet muffs to match their gowns on which were fastened Yuletide roses, silvered holly, and blush pink velvet with two-toned pink and cranberry shower.

Little Miss Patricia Lynn Logan, niece of the bride, as flower girl was gown like Miss Sheri Lafferty, candlelighter, in blush pink velvet with iridescent flowered braid at the neckline, sleeve-points and bodice. Their flowers were wristlets of Yuletide and pink sweetheart rosebuds.

James E. Walters, Sr. served his son as best man. Groomsmen, who also served as ushers, were Nelson Logan and Jack Lafferty, brother and brother-in-law of the bride, respectively.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Logan wore a printed silk with patent accessories, and Mrs. Walters, mother of the groom, wore a moss green sheath with darker green accessories. Both pinned Yuletide red roses with silvered holly trim at their shoulders.

At the reception in the church fellowship hall, Mrs. Jake Saville was dining room hostess, assisted in serving by Mesdames Nelson Logan, Jack Webb, Larry Trout, and Miss Kathy Elmore. The table was covered with a handmade cloth over pink centered with pink and Yuletide red roses and pink tapers.

The registry table was centered with an arrangement of Rome Glory pink and Yuletide red roses and pink tapers. Mrs. Hattie Forehand of Arkadelphia presided at the book. Mrs. Jack Lafferty made the satin and net cloth which covered the table from which rice bags were distributed by Rene Logan and David Lafferty.

Mrs. Walters is a graduate of Bergman High School and Ouachita Baptist University. Until the holiday vacation, she was a teacher in the McCrory School System. Mr. Walters attended Hope High School and Texarkana Junior College. He is employed by International Business Machines in Dallas, Texas.

For travel Mrs. Walters wore a Kelly green and vanilla two-piece knit with silver trim and silver accessories. Her rosebud and holly corsage was from her bridal bouquet. The newlyweds will be at home in Garland, Tex.

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
ap television-Radio Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Jacques Cousteau's adventurers inspected a fleet of sunken ships and Jack Webb's law-and-order heroes were on the trail of murder Monday night, a combination that provided a most satisfying evening of television viewing.

The latest chapter in the wanderings of the Cousteau team of undersea explorers, seen on ABC, carried them to the lagoon of Truk, a small Pacific island which was a Japanese naval base. A U.S. air attack in 1944 sent some 50 ships to the bottom — a color film of the attack was effectively integrated into the program. Cousteau and his divers took a look at about three-quarters of the fleet, now a coral-covered, rusty graveyard.

The undersea photography, work of Cousteau's son Philippe, was especially effective. They were concerned about the absence of the larger inhabitants of the lagoon—lobsters, groupers and moray eels. Cousteau finally concluded that the two-day bombardment more than 25 years ago had destroyed them, a footnote on the waste of war.

There also was some eerie footage which Philippe described as "a sight of hell"—a room full of bones and skulls of trapped crew members.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

THERE'S STILL HOPE AT AGE 18

Dear Helen:
The reasons you gave the 15-year-old girl who worried because she was "fickle" fit me to a T. But I'm 18!

All my girl friends are either engaged or married, and here I am, flitting from one to another, getting tired of a new fellow after the second date.

Am I terribly immature, insecure, or too particular? —
REALLY FICKLE
Dear R.F.:

Maybe you're just smart

"World Premiere" program, kicked off a series of new made-for-TV film features on Monday nights. It was the step-by-step unraveling of a complicated homicide. As with "Drag-net," producer Webb turned out a rather complete, realistic case history.

Robert Conrad played a conscientious deputy district attorney who after getting a conviction of a druggist for shooting a would-be hold-up man, had second thoughts about the truth of testimony by his star witness.

Padding to fill the two hours was handled with interesting characters in smaller parts. William Conrad—no relation—was one of them as Robert Conrad's colleague.

enough to realize that—so far—you haven't met a man you'd like to live with all your life. Or maybe you're aimed toward a career first, but not quite willing to admit it.

Stop worrying. At 18, you aren't an old maid! —H.

Dear Helen:
I've been going with this boy for almost a year. He went in the Army and we were all so proud of him.

Next thing we knew, he was A.W.O.L. and has disappeared completely. I haven't heard from him in a month. Helen, we were in love and planning to get married. I've cried myself dry, because I probably will never see him again.

You can't help me, but maybe this can persuade other guys not to go over the hill. No matter how they hate it, running away won't help. And how it hurts the ones left behind! —
HEARTACHE
Dear Helen:

I have three sisters and an old lady and old man and I hate them all. I wish they'd disappear. They act like I'm a thing to blame all the accidents on.

The other day I was standing at the door and my sister thought I was looking at her through the mirror, so she slammed the door the mirror was on and broke it to pieces.

When my old man came home, I got a beating, not her. My sisters are always calling me tapeworm; that just kills me. If I cry he calls me a big baby and they laugh.

Before dinner my little sister puts bad things on my plate just to burn me up. Once she even went outdoors and got a worm to put on it.

If I was old enough I'd get a job and leave, but a 13-year-old can't even run away. —SHELLY
Dear Shelly:

Someone in this family has got to stop hating FIRST. I'd guess you're all at each others' throats because each of you (including your parents) thinks the rest are "out to get her (him)".

Your folks must be as unhappy as you are with this constant fighting. To them I suggest: A few sessions at a Child Guidance Clinic might do wonders for everyone concerned. —H.

Dear Helen:
I'd like to know: Does love affect teen-age boys as it affects teen-age girls? I mean, like do they feel drifts and can't eat? And is all they want to think about that certain person? And they don't hear when someone talks to them, and they don't do anything but sit and dream? Or write poems?

That's how love (or should I call it a crush because he doesn't know I exist) affects me, and I was wondering, is it the same with boys? —CURIOUS
Dear Curious:

According to my mail from lovestruck boys—YES!!! —H.

Bobkittens Take Third Place Trophy

By BILL MOORE
Star Sports Writer

Winning a trophy for the first year coach! That's what the Hope Bobkittens did last night. Breaking the game wide open in the second half, the Kittens won the third place consolation trophy, beating the Rogers Rams, 37-24, for their fifth win against six losses.

Coach Harold Alexander's Bobkittens, early had defeated Smackover and then lost to Fairview.

Although both teams started out cold, with 4:55 left in the first period Jimmy Smith put Hope on the board with a free throw for a 1-0 lead. Gary Rhodes then hit a two pointer, but seconds later it was knotted up at three all.

After Smith traded baskets with Bill Shinner, the first quarter ended at five all.

At the tipoff, two points each were traded before Marshall Scott hit a jumpshot with 4:39 left in the half to give Hope the lead for good.

Rogers took a time out after Smith hit two points and Huddleston popped the net for four to set the score at 15-9, Hope leading.

After Smith hit three points and Buck Martin got two, the first half ended with the Kittens holding a 20-12 lead.

Early in the third period, Smith and Mike Cheshier hit the only points scored, but with 2:39 left, things started picking up.

Huddleston connected for a two pointer and Rhodes hit a free throw. Another free shot and a goal by Smith produced a 28-20 lead, entering the final period.

Taking the tipoff for the first time in the game, the Kittens quickly scored on the Rams three straight times to all but ice the game away.

Huddleston's free throw with 1:31 remaining pushed Hope's lead up to 35-22, and later with just two seconds showing, Mike Harris hit a field goal for the final points.

Smith scored 16 points, followed by Huddleston with nine, and Rhodes with six, while Donny Waits had six for the Rams.

Wednesday night the Bobcats travel to Arkadelphia to meet Bradley in the first round of the Henderson tournament. At present the Bobcats hold a district record of 1-0 and a seasonal 8-3 record.

ASU Victim of Oklahoma Cowboys

STILLWATER, Okla. (AP)—Oklahoma State broke open a tight ball game mid way in the second half with a six-point sprint and whipped Arkansas State 65-60 in basketball action here Monday night.

The Cowboys, using a tough man-to-man defense, played nip and tuck with the Indians through the first half before trailing 34-31 at intermission.

The Indians pulled to within four points in the last minute of the game and had two opportunities to tie the Cowboys but failed to cash in on field goal attempts.

John Belcher led the Indians with 15 points and Allen Pruett added 13. Paul Mullen and Scott Alford each had 14 points for the Cowboys.

OBU raised its season record to 5-8 while dropping ASU to 5-6.

Ruling Opens Way for Clay, Frazier Fight

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Muhammad Ali heads for Miami Wednesday to start training for his March heavyweight championship show down against Joe Frazier after being given a green light by the Supreme Court.

The Court said Monday it would hear arguments, probably in April, on Ali's claim that he was a conscientious objector when he refused induction into the Army 3½ years ago. The decision cleared the way for the championship bout.

"I'm relieved," said Ali "Now I can concentrate on the fight. I am happy, very happy that the Supreme Court has agreed to hear the case and eliminate any problem with the fight. Now I am going to show who the real champion of the world is."

Ali refused induction into the Army April 28, 1967 and was subsequently indicted and convicted one month later. On June 20, 1967, U.S. District Court Judge Joe Ingraham imposed a $10,000 fine and five-year prison sentence on the boxer.

Ali was stripped of his title by most boxing commissions and also lost his license. He was freed on $5,000 bond while his lawyers threaded the tedious paths of appeal, rehearing and appeal again. He was not allowed to fight again until last October.

Since then, he has whipped Jerry Quarry and Oscar Bonavena to earn the showdown match with Frazier March 8.

In Miami, Ali's trainer, Angelo Dundee was anxious to set up camp and begin training for the Frazier tilt.

Dundee said he had imported four Frazier-style punchers to spar with Ali. The challenger's brother, Rahman Ali, will also act as a sparring partner, Dundee said.

In another decision Monday, the Supreme Court refused to review baseball's exemption from anti-trust legislation, virtually killing the suit of ex-American League umpires Al Salerno and Bill Valentine, who claimed they were fired in 1968 for trying to organize an umpire's union.

The two umpires had sued American League President Joe Cronin and Commissioner Bowie Kuhn for triple damages, alleging they violated federal anti-trust laws by conspiring in restraint of interstate commerce.

The case was dismissed by Manhattan U.S. District Court Judge Thomas F. Croake Dec. 10, 1969, a decision upheld by the Circuit Court July 13, 1970. The courts cited a 1922 Supreme Court decision reaffirmed in 1953, that exempted baseball from antitrust laws.

Spring Hill Loses at Saratoga

The Saratoga Invitational Tournament got underway Monday and Garland defeated Foulke 62 to 55 in the first game. Jim Davis was high point for Garland with 26 and Robert Teer led the loser with 21.

In the second boys contest of the meet Nashville defeated Washington Lincoln 77 to 64 with the 25-point shooting of Steve Dyer. John Crosby made 22 for Lincoln.

The first girls game of the tourney saw Genoa Central wallop Spring Hill 59-34. Jenny Kennedy led all scorers with 28 for the winners. Ann Tarpley and Janice Downs led Spring Hill with 15 each.

There will be no games Tuesday night. Action will be resumed Wednesday at 6:30 with the Nashville and Garland girls. At 7:45 p.m. Murfreesboro and Genoa Central boys meet and the final game of the night at 9 p.m. pairs the Blevins and Murfreesboro girls.

Two Defeats Tumble S. Carolina

By HAL BOCK
Associated Press Sports Writer

Two straight defeats at the tail end of last week tumbled South Carolina from second to sixth in The Associated Press college basketball poll and the shellshocked Gamecocks haven't recovered yet.

Still cold from the Maryland freeze which beat them in College Park Saturday, the Gamecocks dropped a 50-49 shocker to Virginia Monday night for their third consecutive setback.

South Carolina, which began last week undefeated and rated No. 2 in the nation, dropped its second straight one-point decision on Barry Parkhill's 15-foot jump shot with just seven seconds left to play.

Three other teams ranked among The AP's Top Ten were more fortunate. Western Kentucky, No. 5, dropped Morehead State 85-63. Jacksonville, rated seventh, walloped Oklahoma City 95-67, and No. 10 Kentucky defeated Georgia 79-66.

In other games, Maryland whipped Clemson 56-52, Cincinnati came from behind to take North Illinois 87-86, Auburn dropped Alabama 83-72, Army trounced Kings College, Pa., 64-32, Florida State routed Manhattan 96-68, Tennessee turned back Florida 85-75, and Utah State topped Montana State 86-70.

Virginia beat the clock as well as South Carolina. The Cavaliers were trailing 49-48 but gambed, holding the ball for one last shot. Parkhill made it and harried South Carolina called two timeouts—one with four seconds left, the other with three seconds remaining—to set up their last gasp shot. Rick Aydielt tried it but missed from the corner.

Both teams played for the good shot throughout the game and finished with better than 60 per center accuracy from the floor.

Parkhill finished with 15 points for Virginia and Tom Owens had 16 for SC—the only men to reach double figures.

Morehead State shackled big Jim McDaniels, holding him to a mere 10 points, but Western Kentucky still romped. McDaniels grabbed 14 rebounds and Western opened a 41-22 halftime bulge to coast in.

Harold Fox snapped lethargic Jacksonville into action with three straight steals and baskets early in the second half and the Dolphins went on to whip Oklahoma City. Fox led Jacksonville with 21 points while Norm Russell hit 27 for the losers.

Kentucky used 23 points by Tom Parker and 20 more from Mike Casey to defeat Georgia. The Bulldogs, who threw a slowdown at Kentucky, hit 15-of-20 first-half shots to stay close before the Wildcats took control.

Cincinnati wiped out a 13-point deficit and beat Northern Illinois on a pair of foul shots in the last 20 seconds by Dave Johnson. Cleveland Ivey and Jerry Zielinsky had 22 points each for the losers.

Florida State, down by one point at halftime, outscored Manhattan 32-4 in the first nine minutes of the second half to rip the visiting Jaspers. Ron King's 28 points led FSU with 5-foot-7 Otto Perry directing the second-half attack that shattered Manhattan.

Willie Allen's tip-in with 90 seconds left sparked a six-point Miami burst that moved the Hurricanes to a 78-75 victory over Lafayette.

Jim Irving's 32 points led St. Louis to a 79-65 victory over Tulsa. Irving scored 24 of his points in the second half when the Billikens broke the game wide open.

Ashland, No. 6 among the small college teams in The AP poll, defeated New Hampshire 49-37 in a game terminated in the final minute by a brawl. There were 47 seconds left on the clock when the officials ended the game because of the fight.

Old George Is Athlete of the Year

By BRUCE LOWITT
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — When

George Blanda was already kicking and throwing footballs, Bobby Orr and Johnny Bench were just learning how to walk.

Now, more than 20 years later, Orr is the scourge of the National Hockey League and Bench is the main cog in baseball's Big Red Machine in Cincinnati—and Blanda is still kicking and throwing footballs.

He did it so well in 1970—and with last-gasp heroics that would have made Pearl White shudder—that the 43-year-old "second-string" quarterback of the National Football League's Oakland Raiders was named The Associated Press Male Athlete of the Year.

Blanda received 332 votes in the year-end nationwide poll of sportswriters and sportscasters, beating out 22-year-old Orr, defenseman of the Boston Bruins who received 246 votes and catcher Bench who got 224.

And just by being a football player—excelling in a tough, often brutal sport against players half his age—he also managed to break baseball's five-year hold on the award and become the first grid great to capture it since Howard "Hopalong" Cassidy of Ohio State was selected in 1955.

Filling out 1970's top 10 vote getters were Baltimore third baseman Brooks Robinson, New York Knicks center Willis Reed, former heavyweight champion Muhammad Ali, college football quarterback Joe Theismann of Notre Dame and Jim Plunkett of Stanford and pro baseball stars Jerry West of Los Angeles and Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee. Blanda played his college football under Coach Paul "Bear" Bryant at Kentucky, quarterbacking the Wildcats to a 29-9-2 record during his three varsity years, 1946-48.

He began his 21-year pro career with the Chicago Bears of the NFL. In his 10-year, 115-game career with the Monsters of the Midway he passed for 48 touchdowns ran for five more TDs and kicked 511 points in conversions and field goals.

He was dropped by the Bears and sat out the 1959 season. Then, in 1960, when the American Football League was born, Blanda was reborn—and he hasn't slowed down since.

He signed with Houston as a free agent and spent seven years with the Oilers before being traded to Oakland, where he is the backup quarterback behind Daryle Lamonica.

In his 11 years in the AFL—including 1970 when the league became the American Football Conference of the merged National Football League—Blanda tossed 180 touchdown passes, scored four more himself and booted 996 points.

His name is strewn throughout pro football's record books. But it wasn't until last season that "Old Reliable" fired the fans' imaginations, trotting onto the field Sunday after Sunday to rescue the Raiders with what became known as "Sunday magic."

Oct. 25: With Lamonica injured, Blanda came off the bench against Pittsburgh and threw three touchdown passes for a 31-14 Oakland victory.

Nov. 1: With three seconds remaining, Blanda kicked a 48-yard field goal as the Raiders tied Kansas City 17-17.

Nov. 8: With three seconds to play, Blanda booted a 52-yarder to beat Cleveland 23-20. It followed his 14-yard touchdown pass with 1:32 remaining that tied the game and set up the winning drive.

Nov. 15: Blanda directed a late-game touchdown drive that turned back Denver 24-19.

Nov. 22: A pair of fourth-quarter field goals upended San Diego 29-17.

Dec. 6: Blanda's point-after-touchdown with no time remaining defeated the New York Jets 14-13.

"I'm essentially a kicker," says the 6-foot-2, 215-pounder, pro football's all-time leading scorer with 1,561 points. "Sometimes a little bit of experience helps."

Blanda said being one of 11 children taught him to be competitive early in life. "You had to survive."

And when Jim Otto, the Oakland center, commented: "The guy almost embarrasses you... running wind sprints and working harder than any of us," Blanda replied: "I love it!"

UCLA Still Tops Nat'l Cage Poll

By ED SCHUYLER JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

North Carolina is a long way from the top and Maryland is just getting mention, but they are the reasons why South Carolina is no longer shadowing No. 1 UCLA in The Associated Press' major college basketball poll.

North Carolina beat South Carolina 79-64 and then Maryland upset the Gamecocks 31-30 in overtime last week, causing them to drop from second to sixth in the poll of sports writers and sportscasters. South Carolina did beat Temple 84-71.

Takes 2 Shots to Break a Long String

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
It took just two shots to cut Louis Dampier's free throw string.

The 6-foot guard for the Kentucky Colonels, who hit his 57th consecutive foul shot Saturday night to break the pro mark, hit his first Monday night, then missed. His teammates didn't do much better for the night, losing 121-107 to Memphis.

In the night's only other American Basketball Association game, Indiana beat Utah 111-101 to move within half a game of the first-place Stars in the Western Division. The National Basketball Association was idle.

Dampier, who wound up hitting just two-for-five from the charity line, surpassed the mark of 56 set in 1959 by Bill Sharman of the NBA's Boston Celtics.

The Pros edged to a 54-53 half-time lead, then ran away in the third quarter to open a 90-78 margin. Their balanced attack was led by Steve Jones, Wilbert Jones and Charlie Williams with 17 points apiece. Cincy Powell hit 20 for Kentucky.

Indiana, beating Utah for the second time in five meetings, breezed to a 58-48 margin at the half, then played the Stars evenly the rest of the way. Roger Brown with 32 points and Mel Daniels with 28 paced the Pacers while Zelmo Beatty of Utah had 26.

Knicks Have Best Defense in League

NEW YORK (AP) — When they swept to their first National Basketball Association championship last spring, the New York Knicks often heard capacity home court crowds urge them on with rhythmic chants of "Dee-fense, dee-fense, dee-fense."

It must have worked because the Knicks, halfway through the current NBA season, have the best defensive figures in the league.

New York is allowing an average of 102.4 points per game, almost three full points less than Milwaukee, which is No. 2 with 105.3.

The Bucks, however, boast the NBA's leading scorer in towering Lew Alcindor, who is averaging 31.5 points per game, 2.3 more than Boston's John Havlicek.

Alcindor's teammate, Oscar Robertson, leads the free throw shooters with .874 accuracy and Los Angeles' Wilt Chamberlain is the top rebounder with 19.1

West Picked to Win All Star Game

By RON ROACH
Associated Press Sports Writer
SAN DIEGO (AP)—The west team should win tonight's 21st annual National Basketball Association all-star game, according to the oldest all-star.

"The west has more of the better players," insists Johnny Green, 37-year-old Cincinnati Royal forward, a member of the east team.

The nationally televised game starts at 7 p.m. PST at San Diego's International Sports Arena.

The west, led by 10-time all-stars Oscar Robertson of Milwaukee, Wilt Chamberlain and Jerry West, both of Los Angeles, is a squad with the combined all-star experience of 57 games. The East's 14-man team totals 30, paced by Willis Reed of New York who has played in six.

But two-time all-star Lew Alcindor of Milwaukee may be the game's deciding factor.

"Alcindor can dominate the game if he makes the effort," said Green.

A year ago, when Alcindor was a rookie, he played behind Green on the east team that won 142-135. Reed and Robertson scored 21 points each in that game.

With re-alignment of the league, Alcindor and Robertson join the west team and Big Lew stands in the way of Reed's attempt to be the game's most valuable player in consecutive years.

Robertson is a 32-year-old veteran with nine of his 10 all-star game appearances resulting in victories for his side. He leads all star scorers with 230 points but will not be in the west's starting lineup.

Besides Alcindor, west coach Larry Costello of Milwaukee will start forwards Jerry Lucas of San Francisco and Connie Hawkins of Phoenix with guards West and Dave Bing of Detroit.

New York's Red Holzman, coach of the east, will lead with Reed at center, John Havlicek of Boston and Billy Cunningham of Philadelphia at forwards and guards Walt Frazier of New York and Earl Monroe of Baltimore.

Cincinnati's Johnny Green heads the field goal accuracy department with .592 and teammate Norm Van Lier leads in assists with 10.1 per game.

Many Things Make a Team Champions

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — Vince Lombardi defined it as Love. Craig Morton calls it Togetherness. Whatever the catchword, it's the stuff of which championship football teams are made.

"I realize that togetherness is an overworked word, but I can't think of a better one," Morton said today in trying to account for the turnaround that has thrust the Cowboys from the brink of oblivion to Super Bowl V.

"This has always been a close team, but we never really sacrificed for each other until this year. We got together as individuals and we got together as a team. Now, we have a complete desire to win.

"It would be nice if you could put this kind of thing into words. Lombardi used 'love.' That's a great word, too, particularly when you're winning the way he did."

Lombardi's 1966 and 1967 Green Bay Packers won the first two Super Bowl games, each year earning their berth in the world championship match by toppling Dallas.

Sunday, it will be the Cowboys against the Baltimore Colts for the money—a $15,000 payoff per-man to the winners—and for the Vince Lombardi Trophy symbolic of pro football supremacy.

Morton has been cast in the role of "the other quarterback" for the duel between the resurgent Cowboys and the redemptionist Colts, led by ageless wonder Johnny Unitas.

But Morton, who has made his share of sacrifices to the Dallas cause, is neither awed by the spectre of Unitas nor perplexed by his own predicament after a long season marked by trial and tribulation.

"I've always respected and admired Johnny Unitas," he said as the Cowboys began the final-week Super Bowl countdown with a work-out at their Fort Lauderdale training base. "In my book, he's the greatest quarterback who ever lived. But you've got to be yourself."

Morton, beset by injuries, including a painful bruise on his right elbow, completed only 11 of 40 passes in the Cowboys' playoff victories over Detroit and San Francisco that completed their stretch drive and nailed the National Football Conference title.

And the Dallas signal-caller has not called signals, except for changes, or audibles, at the line of scrimmage, since last November. Coach Tom Landry has sent in all the plays, since a humiliating 38-0 loss to St. Louis—and the Cowboys have reeled off seven consecutive victories.

"In no way has it affected me," Morton said, "and I wouldn't want to change it now, not the way we're going."

"When I come off the field, we talk together on the sideline about what we want to run on the next series. I'm so indoctrinated with his system that we more or less think together anyway. I try to approach the game

NHL All-Star Game Set for Tuesday

NEW YORK (AP) — The National Hockey League's 24th annual All Star Game in Boston next Tuesday will feature three brother combinations.

Left wingers Frank Mahovlich of Detroit and Pete Mahovlich of Montreal were added to the East Division squad Monday along with six other players including Detroit's immortal Gordie Howe, the NHL's alltime scoring king.

The Mahovlichs join Chicago's Bobby and Dennis Hull, who were selected to the West Division team in balloting by the NHL Writer's Association, and Boston's Phil Esposito and Chicago's Tony Esposito, as the game's third brother combination.

Named to the East team along with the Mahovlichs and Howe were center Gil Perreault of Buffalo and Dave Keon of Toronto, right wing Yvan Cournoyer of Montreal and defenseman Dale Tallon of Vancouver and Dallas Smith of Boston.

Nine players were added to the West team including St. Louis' Gary Sabourin who will replace Ken Schinkel of Pittsburgh. Schinkel, selected in the original balloting, is sidelined with a broken collarbone.

Also added to the West team were defensemen Ted Harris of Minnesota and Carol Vadnais of California, centers Red Berenson of St. Louis and Bob Clarke of Philadelphia, right wings Bill Flett of Los Angeles and Chico Maki of Chicago, and left wings Danny Grant of Minnesota and Greg Polis of Pittsburgh.

Members of the winning team get $500 per man and the losers get $250 apiece.

the same way as he does."

"Craig is an excellent signal-caller," said Landry. "He can call them with anyone in the league. But a change had to be made. We were playing poorly and we had to do something to shake things up. It was either change the quarterback or call the plays."

"By calling the plays I felt I could take some of the pressure off him. He still has the option to audible anytime he chooses."

Earl Morrall Looks Back, Unitas Doesn't

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer
MIAMI (AP) — "My mind keeps flashing back," says Earl Morrall. "I keep thinking 'If's over and over in my mind—if I had done this, if this play had worked. It's always there. I'll never forget it."

"I can't remember past yesterday," quips Johnny Unitas. "We just got beat—that's the way I look at it. It's a blow, but if you've done everything you can, you can't cry about it or complain about it"

In those two different retrospective looks at their stunning upset by the New York Jets in the Super Bowl two years ago, Baltimore's venerable quarterbacks have indelibly underscored the two different worlds they are operating in this week.

But words are only one picture. The other picture is equally tangible and poignant—Morrall, virtually ignored, alone with his thoughts, far from the center of the action, the spot where Unitas talks to newsmen and is hounded by photographers.

Unitas is the focal point. Unitas means redemption. Unitas has a golden arm. Unitas reads defenses better than anyone. Unitas. Unitas. Unitas.

And that perspective as the Colts prepare for Sunday's meeting in Super Bowl V with the Dallas Cowboys is reflected by the scene.

Unitas, who stood on the sidelines two years ago while Morrall floundered, is consciously cool. He points out the only difference from two years ago is that his hair is a little longer, and then he says:

"It's just another ball game. It's worth more money, and there's prestige and pride involved—you want to win it. It's the thing we played for all year long, you don't want to blow it. But it's just another ball game."

And what about the game this Sunday?

"We're a different ball club than two years ago," Unitas

Horace Mann Tops Weekly Cage Poll

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Little Rock Horace Mann bolted to the top of The Associated Press high school basketball poll this week.

Horace Mann, ranked seventh last week, defeated Mayflower 100-61 and downed North Little Rock 92-80. North Little Rock was ranked second last week.

Little Rock McClellan moved from third to second this week, followed by North Little Rock and Hot Springs. The Trojans were knocked out of the top spot in the poll after losing to North Little Rock 68-66.

Harrison is fifth this week and Fort Smith Northside is sixth, followed by Tuckerman, Blytheville and Cave City.

Valley Springs rounds out the top ten.

Here are the results of the poll, with first place votes and learn records in parenthesis and total points at right:

Chrysler Gets Warning of UAW Strike

DETROIT (AP)—The United Auto Workers union has issued a deadline to the Chrysler Corp. giving the third largest automaker until 10 a.m. Jan. 19 to sign a new contract or face a strike.

The UAW represents some 120,000 hourly rated and salaried workers at Chrysler. Leonard Woodcock, UAW president also said Monday that "if they force a strike now simply for the purpose of reducing inventory, when they want production, then this union will want to turn the tables."

John Leary, Chrysler vice-president for administration, said the company is "not interested in having a strike" and denied that the 80-day stockpile is a bargaining factor.

UAW leaders said all 48 Chrysler plants in the United States and Canada would be shut down Tuesday if no agreement is reached.

Major issues are retroactivity of the new contract's first-year wage increase and the pay scale for salaries employees.

Chrysler's wage package generally followed the pattern set in General Motors and Ford settlements where the average wage for production workers was raised to $12,000-$13,000 by the third year of the contract.

In Chrysler proposals, retroactivity to Sept. 15 was offered to the first 26 cents of the 51-cent-an-hour first-year raise, but no mention was made of retroactivity for the remainder. The 26 cents is the cost of living carry-over from the last contract. The union want the same retroactivity clause negotiated with Ford, where 26 cents of the 51-cent increase was made retroactive to Sept. 15 and the remaining 25 cents was pegged to Nov. 2.

Business Is Aided Without Congress

By EDMOND LeBRETON

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Nixon has found a way to give business a $2.7-billion tax break without involving the Democratic-controlled Congress. But the move may hurt chances of his project to share federal revenue with the states.

Nixon's announcement of new regulations allowing faster writeoff of investment in machinery and other production facilities was hailed by businessmen and greeted with skepticism by congressmen.

The new rules, announced Monday in San Clemente, Calif., allow businesses to shorten by as much as 20 per cent the period in which they write off for tax purposes investment in machinery. They also will be able to concentrate more of the writeoff in the first year.

The regulations will be promulgated under the Treasury Department's authority to set reasonable depreciation guidelines. No legislation is required. "It won't make it any easier to persuade Congress to approve revenue sharing," commented Rep. Wilbur D. Mills, D-Ark. "It makes it harder—because it adds to the deficit."

Mills is chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee where any revenue-sharing legislation would begin. Although a consistent opponent of the sharing plan, Mills said in a telephone interview from Searcy, Ark., he will hold hearings on the proposal after the 92nd Congress convenes, but not early in the session.

Typical of business reaction to the new depreciation regulations was the comment of W.P. Gullander, president of the National Association of Manufacturers.

"The business community has long sought depreciation policies more in line with those enjoyed by foreign competitors, and this action by the president is an important partial move in this direction," he said.

Even before Nixon announced them, the changes came under legal attack by two attorneys in a law firm set up by consumer advocate Ralph Nader.

The attorneys, Thomas H. Stanton and Samuel A. Simon, relying on newspaper speculation, filed suit claiming the government was exceeding its authority in putting new regulations into effect without a hearing.

Treasury officials said hearings will be held when the rule changes are officially promulgated.

U.S. Dist. Court Judge John H. Pratt denied a motion for a temporary restraining order to bar announcement of the changes but set a hearing in the suit for Jan. 21.

At a briefing in Washington, Treasury officials told newsmen the changes are estimated to reduce government revenues by $800 million in the year ending June 30, 1971, $2.7 billion in the following year. The reduction will increase to $4.1 billion in fiscal 1976 and thereafter fall to $2.8 billion by fiscal 1980, they said.

Budget deficits in the area of $15 billion for this year and the next had been forecast before the changes were made.

However, Nixon argued, long-run federal tax collections will increase because the stimulation provided by increased investment will boost the economy and modernized equipment will increase productivity.

Administration spokesmen said also that faster depreciation means postponement of taxes, rather than forgiveness of them.

However, Asst. Treasury Secretary Edwin S. Cohen agreed businesses that continue stepping up equipment investments would enjoy the equivalent of a continuing interest-free loan in the form of tax savings.

SHORT RIBS

Parents vs. Grandparents

Jane and Eddie, a young married couple, showed almost no interest in their baby boy. Out of sheer necessity, Jane's parents took over the task of bringing him up.

But when he was three, Jane and Eddie decided they wanted him back. The grandparents refused to part with the boy, so the two couples squared off in the courtroom to fight for custody.

"Parents outrank grandparents," argued the younger pair. But it also appeared that Jane and Eddie drank too much, worked too little, and had no home of their own. The court ruled that the boy was better off where he was, with his grandparents.

It is not rare for parents and grandparents to disagree about the custody of a child. Generally speaking, the law puts its main emphasis on what is best for the child, even at the expense of parental sensibilities.

Nevertheless, in most instances, parents are indeed favored over grandparents because they are the "natural" custodians of their own offspring. As one court put it:

"The law seeks to work in harmony with nature, and to continue those ties which bind man to his own flesh."

Thus, in another case, parents regained custody of their daughter even though they had no savings, no life insurance, and only a modest income. Noting that their income at least was steady and their habits sober, the court said:

"Unless they are to be deprived for all time of the love of their child, and of the opportunity to give her their love, they should be given that chance now."

Are a child's own wishes taken into consideration? Yes, if he is mature enough to have independent views. But usually this factor is not decisive by itself.

A 15-year-old boy, transferred to his parents' home after many years with his grandmother, was unhappy about the change. He said in a court hearing that, because of squabbling between his mother and father, he wanted to move back with his grandmother. But the court held that the boy's discontent was not enough reason to grant his request. The court said he would probably soon get used to the shift from a sheltered existence with his grandmother to the normal abrasions of family life.

Notes From Pro Golf Tourney Trail

By BOB GREEN

Associated Press Golf Writer

PEBBLE BEACH, Calif. (AP)

—Notes from the pro golf tournament trail:

Maurie Luxford is celebrating two golfing anniversaries this week, his 50th year in the game and the 25th time he's been director of play for the Bing Crosby by National Pro-Am.

Luxford came to this country after World War I, became a member of the Lakeside Golf Club in Hollywood, was assigned a locker near Crosby's and struck up a friendship that has lasted some 42 years.

"I met him in 1928 when he was one of the Rhythm Boys," the 76-year-old Luxford recalled.

"My scrambling must have impressed Bing because he kept inviting me back to his tournament."

Luxford and Johnny Revolta won the pro-am event in 1939. He became director of play for the Crosby after World War II.

LET'S REFLECT

Like a hick'ry cog, in that old mill wheel, he did his part as his turn came 'round. Selected from Apples Of Gold

CALENDAR OF EVENTS

Mrs. E.M. Nelson will be hostess to the Anna P. Strong Federated club in its monthly meeting Friday January 15th at 7 p.m.

The senior choir of Bethel A.M.E. Church will meet for rehearsal on Wednesday nights at 7 o'clock instead of Tuesday nights until further notice. In the event the weather is too cold to meet at the church, the rehearsals will be held at the church parsonage, according to Rev. Wynn, Pastor.

OBITUARY

Mrs. Myown Sanders, a native of Hempstead County, Arkansas, passed away in a local hospital Monday morning, January 11, 1971, at age of 78. She was a member of Lonoke Baptist Church.

She is survived by two sons, Harold Sanders and Cecil Stephens of Hope; two daughters-in-law, Mrs. Gertrude Sanders and Mrs. Bessie Stephens of Hope; one sister, Mrs. Katie Sanders of Phoenix, Arizona; one grandson, Curtis L. Stephens, and one great grandson, Curtis Stephens, Jr., both of Cleveland, Ohio.

Funeral arrangements are incomplete and will be announced by Hicks Funeral Home, Inc.

Figures Out Reason the Whales Died

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Two researchers believe they know why 29 pilot whales swam onto a small island and died last week.

They say the whales—found dying Friday night on San Clemente Island—probably followed spawning squid into shallow water where several of them were injured on rocks, stayed until the tide went out and were left high and dry.

Their built-in sonar probably failed to detect their approach to shallow water, Navy biologist Bill Evans of San Diego said Monday.

In agreement, John Prescott, curator of the Marineland oceanarium, told a newsman the whales followed the squid toward an escarpment.

Evans said that at Pyramid Cove on San Clemente Island, the sea bottom rises very gradually to the beach.

This may have caused the leader of the herd to believe there was open water ahead, Evans said.

The Hope High School Class of 1960 had its 10-year reunion on December 26 at the Hope Country Club. Out of a graduating class of 120, 75 members came with their husbands or wives. The happy group assembled in a festive setting of holiday decorations.

Larry Patterson served as master of ceremonies for the informal program during which everyone was introduced and told of their present home and occupation.

Mrs. Ron Sorenson of San Francisco, nee Sherry Hankins, won the prize for having come the greatest distance. Three children was the popular number for families, with five members of the class having achieved that for the largest family. In a drawing among them, Mrs. Bill Hairr, nee Georganne Lowe, won the prize.

Turkey and ham, dips 'n' chips were available at a snack buffet, and dancing was enjoyed, as well as visiting, during the evening.

U.S. Protests Treatment of Americans

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The U.S. Embassy in Moscow has lodged a stern oral protest with the Kremlin over the harassment of Americans in the Soviet capital.

Monday's protest came as President Nixon, Mayor John V. Lindsay of New York City and 50 Jewish leaders denounced the anti-Soviet campaign by American Jewish extremists.

The Moscow anti-American campaign began last week in response to the harassment of Soviet representatives in the United States by the militant Jewish Defense League which seeks a more liberal emigration policy for Russian Jews.

Rabbi Meir Kahane, founder and leader of the JDL, said Sunday that his group would begin a campaign to harass Soviet diplomats working in New York City.

A spokesman for the Soviet mission to the United Nations said Monday that Soviet diplomats had been followed on foot and by car by "gangs of hoodlums" from the JDL for the second day.

Nikolai N. Loginov, the press spokesman, said the JDL members carried signs calling the diplomats "pigs" and used derogatory names including "the dirtiest four-letter words in the Russian language."

"We in the Soviet mission express our surprise over the U.S.A. authorities' inability to check the rampage of the gang of hoodlums toward the Soviet offices in New York City," he said.

In Moscow the U.S. protest was delivered orally by Thompson R. Buchanan, the embassy political counselor. He said the Soviet Foreign Ministry replied that Americans would not suffer such harassment if Soviet citizens were left in peace in the United States.

Three correspondents' automobiles have been damaged, two Pan American World Airways representatives have been threatened, two diplomats have been lectured and threatened, and two diplomats' cars have been vandalized.

Informed diplomatic sources in Moscow said the harassment of Americans is expected to taper off as soon as the Russians become convinced that sufficient protection is being provided by New York and Washington police.

195 May Be Reached in Draft Call

WASHINGTON (AP) — Despite predictions of lowered draft calls this year, Selective Service Director Curtis W. Tarr says lottery number 195 may prove to be the upper limit again.

Tarr says the 1971 draft pool, consisting of men just turned 19, will be smaller than the 1970 pool which consisted of men aged 19 to 26. Thus, he said, although fewer men might be called, it will take higher draft numbers to get the manpower.

Tarr said he doesn't know how many draftees will be needed in 1971 but cited published reports that Secretary of Defense Melvin R. Laird estimated the total would fall between 80,000 and 120,000.

The draft director discussed the 1971 outlook in a conversation Monday following a news conference in which he announced administration plans to seek an end to college student deferments this year. He also said the administration wants to start a uniform national call, allowing the same lottery number to be called everywhere, instead of the present system of geographical quotas. Both moves would require congressional approval.

Tarr also commented on his testimony, just released by a House subcommittee, that some colleges were refusing draft board requests for information on students.

He said he thinks nothing will be done about it, pointing out that the schools are not legally required to provide the information.

Shortly after Tarr spoke, the Defense Department announced a February draft call of 17,000, the same as January.

OEO Beats Off Plan to Slash Funds

By TOM SEPPY

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The federal poverty agency has beaten back plans to cut its next budget by 23 per cent but still is expected to end up with about 10 per cent less money than it now has.

The Nixon administration plans to propose an $800-million budget for the Office of Economic Opportunity in fiscal 1972, well below the $885 million Congress appropriated this year but about $110 million more than proposed by the Office of Management and Budget.

The antipoverty agency's budget for the current year, ending next June 30, includes another $1.2 billion for programs administered by other government agencies. This money is expected to be budgeted directly to those agencies in 1972.

The budget figures were contained in documents prepared by the Office of Management and Budget with changes recommended by OEO.

OEO sources indicated the figures are subject only to slight revision.

According to the documents, the Volunteers In Service to America (VISTA) program will take the same 10-per cent cut as the agency as a whole and receive about $33 million.

Originally, the budget office proposed no funds for VISTA, setting off a storm of criticism by volunteers, OEO officials and congressmen when the news was leaked to the press.

The Nixon administration apparently had intended to phase out the program because, according to the documents, "volunteers have not proven effective in raising the incomes of the poor, and generally have left little visible lasting impact on poor communities."

A major casualty of OEO cuts is the $49-million emergency food and medical services program which has received praise from Congress for encouraging the poor to enroll in federal anti-hunger programs.

It will be dropped, the budget office said, because of "the expansion of the primary federal assistance program and reforms in delivery systems."

Alcoholic prevention and recovery programs, which received about $11 million this fiscal year, also will be phased out of OEO and assumed by other federal agencies.

Another casualty will be the Rural Economic Opportunity Loan Program, which will receive about $9.4 million this year. Nothing has been budgeted for it.

Teachers in Chicago Go on Strike

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Teachers Union struck the city's public school system for the second time in two years today, canceling classes for more than half a million elementary and high school pupils.

Negotiators met into the early morning, but the strike machinery already had been set in motion hours earlier when the union's House of Representatives rejected a Board of Education offer of a 4 per cent salary increase.

Union President John E. Desmond said the vote Monday night was unanimous, and he termed the board's offer "an insult."

The union represents 20,000 of the public school system's 24,500 teachers.

Bomb Threat Brings Arrest

PINE BLUFF, Ark. (AP) — Pine Bluff police arrested a 16-year-old youth Monday in connection with a series of bomb threats received at the Pine Bluff High School last Friday. Officials would not release the name of the youth.

The incident is still under investigation, police said.

Bill Reduces State Agencies to Only 13

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. elect Dale Bumpers Monday submitted his proposed plan to reorganize state government to the legislature. The bill would reduce the number of major state departments to 13 through consolidation.

The director of each department except the Department of Correction would serve at the pleasure of the governor. The director of the Correction Department would continue to be appointed by the Board of Correction.

Besides the Department of Correction, major agencies that would be created are the departments of Planning, Finance and Administration, Industrial Development, Parks and Tourism, Pollution Control and Ecology, Higher Education, Education, Health, Social Rehabilitative Services, Public Safety, Labor and Commerce.

Among the chief changes would be the consolidation of the existing departments of administration and revenue and the transfer of the Welfare Department to the Department of Social Rehabilitative Services and the State Police to the Department of Public Safety.

The existing Department of Commerce and the Public Service Commission would be transferred to the new Commerce Department along with the Insurance and state Bank Departments and such agencies as the Livestock and Poultry Commission and the Oil and Gas, state Forestry and Geology commissions.

The state Racing Commission and the Alcoholic Beverage Control Board would be made divisions of the Department of Finance and Administration.

The Commission on Coordination of Higher Educational Finance would be restyled as the state Board for Higher Education and would be placed in the Department of Higher Education.

The Educational Television Commission, the state Library Commission and the schools for the blind and deaf would be transferred to the Department of Education, which would have jurisdiction over public school matters. The state Education Commissioner is now appointed by the Board of Education, but under Bumpers' measure the board's appointment would be subject to confirmation of rejection by the governor.

The state hospitals, the Children's Colony, the Department of Mental Retardation, the state Rehabilitative Service and the state Juvenile Training School Department would be placed in the new Department of Social Rehabilitative Services.

More than 60 of the state's 180 agencies, boards and commissions would be affected by the reorganization legislation.

Says Hutto Is Incapable of Murder Intent

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE

Associated Press Writer

FT. MCPHERSON, Ga. (AP) — Sgt. Charles Hutto has been described by a psychologist at his court-martial as a soldier incapable of forming the intent to murder My Lai civilians.

Hutto, 22, of Tallulah, La., is accused of assault with intent to murder at least six civilians at the South Vietnamese hamlet.

Edward Magill of Miami, Fla., Hutto's civilian lawyer, said that his client shot civilians but held that Hutto entered the village "clear of any intention" to kill.

Reichenberg, described Hutto's personality based on a series of tests he administered during a four-hour session.

He said Hutto was a "constricted, rigid individual who would tend to be bound by experiences, training and the expectations of others."
